

Kathryn Reinhardt is a Human Resources professional living in the Rogue Valley for many years currently employed as an Area Human Resource Consultant for BBSI in Medford, Oregon.

Kathryn has served on the Rogue Valley SHRM Board of Directors for the past four years in various positions such as Workforce Readiness, Secretary, President-Elect and President. She is passionate about collaborating with and advising HR professionals, office managers and entrepreneurial small business owners to develop their people, systems and programs to achieve success.

She currently serves as the President for the Rogue Valley Society for Human Resource Management, is on the Board of Directors for the Oregon Employer Council and the American Society of Safety Professionals Conference Planning Committee.

Her career spans more than thirty years and includes work in Human Resources, Risk Management, Leadership and Organization Development. Working for small to large private and non-profit Fortune 500 organizations, her career has covered a variety of industries like education (post-secondary), insurance, healthcare, sales & marketing, water well drilling, agriculture and faith-based organizations. She has expertise in development of organizations and people, facilitation, process improvement, change management, performance management, engagement, compliance and investigations. She enjoys being a business advocate dedicated to leadership and employee engagement and development while helping companies navigate the difficult regulatory compliance landscape.